

Biodata Desirée Vidal Díaz

Desiree has a Bachelor Degree in English Philology from the University of Malaga and a Master in Teaching Spanish for Foreigners from the University Pablo Olavide (Seville), and has spent over 10 years dedicated to teaching English and Spanish for Foreigners both nationally and internationally.

She has worked in diverse international educative projects, such as Sócrates (especially Grundtvig) and Lifelong Learning Programme, travelling through much of Europe and collaborating with various Universities, institutions and European companies.

Always aware of the need for ongoing training, she has taken various courses in Spanish for Foreigners at Instituto Cervantes, the International University of Andalucia, Modern Language Centre of the University of Granada and the University of Malaga.

As a Spanish for Foreigners teacher abroad, she has been a sessional teacher at Instituto Cervantes in Leeds and Spanish Assistant at Bradford Girls ' Grammar School.

Currently she combines her job teaching Spanish for Foreigners at Cervantes Escuela Internacional with teaching English courses for the Youth Area of the Málaga Council.
